outlook of the agricultural classes. People in large centres of population also feel the influence of the times. We cannot be dull to the fact that trade is at a low state-a very disheartening one indeed; neither can we close our eyes to the unsatisfactory and unremunerative prices for farm produce, still there is nothing to be done but wait for the turn of the tide. And the soener the crisis comes the better for those anxiously awaiting a change from the uncertain to the certain. Town and country, the more especially the latter, as the former altogether depends on Tenders will be received not later than 4 p.m., the way that is affected, are eagerly and impatiently looking forward to that time. The revulsion will scarcely be other than an agreeable one when it does come about-that is if the estimate formed, after careful consideration on the future, can be relied on with any degree of confidence. However, at present everyone must knuckle down to akairs as they stand, and not expect to get what was even bartheasome in a more affluent period. Landlords must not expect those heavy rents that was the'r wont in former times, except they want to swamp the farmers most dismally. MIOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, pursuant to If they want to preserve their tenantry they the Statute 22nd & 23rd Vic., cap. 35, in- must protect them when heavily bandicapped; for tituled "An Act to further amend the Laws of never since the famine years has farm produce of Property and Relieve Trustees," that all persons all descriptions been so low in price as in this claiming to be Creditors, or otherwise to have year. But there is a striking contrast between any claims or demands upon or affecting the now and then. At that time want of find was Estate or effects of said John Thomas Glover, who died on or about the 29th day of March, 1885, at Tralce, in the County of Kerry afore. the originating cause of the fearful disasters that followed. Now, it is excess of food that his brought farmers and landlords to a state of sesaid, are hereby required, on or before rious difficulty, and in many cases utter bankruptcy. If in '47 the Government had lent money at low interest to the old proprietors, confidence would have been restored and they would have been able to steer over the crisis, saved their pro-Coachbuilder, the Administrator of said deceased, perties from being sold at a sacrifice, and saved who obtained Letters of Administration to the the tenantry from falling into the hands of speof Her Majesty's High Court of Justice sole object of raising the rents so as to make a profitable speculation. How far that had ruined 1885; or to Messrs M'GILLYCUDDY & MORPHY, and impoverished the country is even felt to this day, and the same needy gentlemen are still to be No. 28, Denny Street, Tralce, in the County of found going round the country in search of such Kerry; and further Notice is hereby given, that employment. They make gold their god, and adore it at the cost of multitudinous buman sufferings. Those gentlemen alluded to made great the Assets of said deceased amongst the parties feast over bow much per cent, or bow many thousand pounds per annum, the fental could be increased. Proprietors who were well disposed "to live and let live" received offers from land agents to raise their rental by so many thousand pounds, provided the management was put into their hands. The times being bad few could resist the temptation, and mack-renting-cruel and crushing-was the role until 1879, when the influx of American provisions brought the owner and the tiller of the soil face to face with a scale of prices with which they could not compete, and pay the then high rents and taxes. The consequence was a slight temporary reduction. As is well known the Land Act of 1881 excluded one-half of the Irish farmers from any little advantages it offered-viz, those who had leases or rented demesne lands or town parks, or had inadvertently sublet even a kitchen garden, or where the landlord wanted the farm for his own or the use of a member of his family. Those who succeeded against the unjust and vexations obstruction thrown in their way to get fair rente fixed have not got sufficient reductions, as prices have steadily continued to fall below what the Commissioners or valuers ever dreamt of. How prices have so fallen is explained on reading such notices as the following :- "Mr. FINLAY DUNN, BEGS most respectfully to inform his nume. THE Grand Opening Meeting of the above of Edinburgh. Secretary for the Swan Land and course Friends that he is about taking out to Club will be held Cattle Co. of America, states, in his last report. We saw a G. STOKES, Mounthawk. | return of fourteen hokins sent of Cork last week by an agent in this town. Only three of them reached £ 1, the rest ranged from 30s, to 31s, Dairy farmers got envious when they heard Mr. Peet, of Arabelia, got at the rate of 156s, per owt, for a firkin, but we bear his next one only made 55s. 10d. The Land Corporation have published a report, in which they boast of having only lost one per cent, but we have read elsewhere that though the Corporation fixed their own rents, and paid no interestion the £45,000 aubscribed, they have lost £8,000 on last year's transactions, nearly one-fifth of their capital-a result not to be proud of. They would have done better with shares in an American Cattle Ranche. A Conservative M.P., speaking on agricultural affairs, said that "on the first breath of war there would be a return toold prices." We have had rather a strong breath of war lately, and it has only served the American provision merchants. There seems no remedy for the existing state of things except a return to protection, and that, we believe, the English mechanic would not permit. If Irish landlords will not meet their tenants with the same consideration and liberality that the English and Scotch are doing there will be another no rent difficulty from sheer inability to pay, and the second agitation may not be so easy to cope with it as the first, It will be overwhelming and disastrous, because of its formidable proportions, if something is not done now to propitiate the farming classes. And yet, in the face of all this, taxation is increasing, and ejectments in Kerry are steadily increasing in which any alteration has been made, will be cheap-to be seen at J. Currayne's Carriage week after week. The country is fast drifting to a state of desperate recklesness; so whether it
